I strongly urge you to stay with the proposed caps.

The new initiative at the last minute from the Island Host group is devious to say the least.

I moved to Orcas from an East Coast town in Maine that was totally spoiled by just the sort of thing that is happening now on the islands. People now bypass it because it has lost the qualities that drew them .

I am a realist, I acknowledge that we need tourism and we need to allow monitored vacation rentals especially for island residents to supplement funds, but caps allow for this and not the expansion to our detriment of other interests.

Please hold back the tide,
